Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

INDEX

INDEX TO VOL. XIV

A

ABERNETHY, GEORGE, characterization of, by Lieutetnant Neil M. Howison, 27.
ASTORIA, 1846, 41-2; 357-60.

B

BAGLEY, CLARENCE B., introduction to Lownsdale Letter by, 213-17.
BARRY, J. NEILSON, author of Contributor's Note, Journal of E. Willard Smith, 250.
BAILLIE, Captain of British ship "Modiste," relieves distress of Lieutenant Neil M. Howison when shipwrecked, 10; letter to Howison, 56.
Blackfeet Indian marauders pursued, 281-2.
BIGGS, fur-trader with Sublette and Vasquez, 269; 271.
British flag, presence of, in Oregon waters a source of irritation in 1846, 7.
Buffaloes, two ways of hunting, 256-7.

C

California draws off immigrants, 28.
Canadian voyagers settled in Oregon, 1846, 24.
Catholic missionaries in Oregon, 1846, 44.
Columbia River, conditions of bar of, in 1846, 7; sailing directions for moving vessel safely into Baker's Bay, 16-18; channel of, 1846, 19; reciprocal current with Willamette, 19.
COMAN'S ECONOMIC BEGINNINGS OF THE FAR WEST, Review of, 71-79.
Commerce in Oregon, 1846, 36-40; inadequate means for commercial exchange in Oregon, 1846, 39-40.
CORBETT, HENRY W., co-operates as partner of Harvey W. Scott and Henry L. Pittock in upbuilding of Oregonian, 204.

D

DOUGLASS, JAMES, characterization of, by Lieutenant Neil M. Howison, 31-2.

E

ELLIOTT, T. C., editor of Journal of John Work, 280-314; editor of Journal of Alexander Ross, 366-88.
English residents in Oregon jealous of American advance into northern portion of the territory of Oregon, 7, 20.

F

Flour trade from Oregon to California, 1847, 13.

G

GATES, JOHN, chief engineer Oregon Steam Navigation Company, 349.
GRAY, J. H. D., accident to, but he continues seamanship, 342.
GRAY, W. H., an expansionist, 321-2; family of, 322-3; moves to British Columbia, 324; mines gold on the Similkameen River, 325: builds boat and conducts it down the Okanogan and Columbia Rivers to the Deschutes, 326-7; takes cargo from Portland to Lewiston, 330-2; builds Cascadilla and uses her on Clearwater and Snake Rivers, 333-5.
GRAY, CAPTAIN WILLIAM P., REMINISCENCES OF, 321-54; mail carrier in Astoria in 1855, 353-4; adventures of on trip from Similkameen to Fort Hope on Fraser River, 325-6; conducts his folks from Asoyoos Lake to the Deschutes, 326-9; aids in passage up Columbia and Snake Rivers to Lewiston, 330-2; in command of the Sarah F. Gray, 334; protects father from assault by A. Kimball, 335-6; takes raft of lumber from Asotin to Wallula, 335-8; watchman and mate on steamer John H. Couch, 340; pilot on Columbia between Celilo and Lewiston, 341-2; in command of Beaver on the Willamette and on the Stikeen, 343-4; is married, 344-5; in charge of the Frederick Billings, transfer boat of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, 346-7; locates at Pasco, 347-8; takes the John Gates through Priest Rapids and Rock Island Rapids, 349-54.

H

HEUER, LIEUTENANT W. H., makes hydrostatic survey of Columbia River rapids between Celilo and Snake River, 1867, 341-2.
HOWISON, REPORT OF LIEUTENANT NEIL M. ON OREGON, 1846, 1-60; learns of formation of Peacock Spit, 4; enters the Columbia, 4-5; vessel is run ashore on Chinook Shoal, 5; proceeds up the Columbia, 7; vessel grounds on the bar in endeavoring to ascend the Willamette, 7; visits Governor Abernethy at Oregon City, and takes a week's ride through the Willamette Valley, 8; visits Tualatin plains, 8; high price of mechanics' labor causes ten of Shark's crew to desert, only two are returned, 8; sells Peacock's launch, 8-9; descends the Columbia, 9; suffers shipwreck in attempting to cross bar on Sept. 10, 9-10; puts up log houses for sheltering crew, 10-11; charters the Cadboro, 11-12; receives intelligence of Oregon treaty, Mexican war and occupation of California, 12; is pent up in Cadboro anchored in Baker's Bay from Nov. 17 to Jan. 18, 12-13; crosses bar and proceeds to California Jan. 18, 13; narrates role of Dr. John McLoughlin in Oregon, 21-3; comments on population and politics of Oregon, 21-35.

HOWISON, LIEUTENANT NEIL M., U. S. Navy, record of service of, 364-5.

Hudson's Bay Company, landed possessions and agricultural operations of, 36-7.

(2) Hudson's Bay Company factors give Lieutenant Howison friendly and considerate relief, 10; accept bills on Baring & Bros. at par, 10.

(1) Hudson's Bay Company agents harassed by intrusive Americans, 33-4.

I

Idaho, gold discoveries cause organization of territory of, 61.

Indian agent's experience in the war of 1886, 65-7.

Indian population in Oregon, 1846, 46-8.

Indian uprising of 1886, the last in the Pacific Northwest, 65.

L

Linn City, founded by Robert Moore, 1843, 215.

Linnton, 1846, 42; 215.

LOWNSDALE, DANIEL H., Letter by, to SAMUEL R. THURSTON, 213-49; biographical data on, 215.

LOWNSDALE LETTER, historical importance of, 217; urges preference be given Americans in conflicting preemption rights, 218; old organic law of Oregon did not grant any right to soil, 218-19; suggests wording for land law, 219-221; custom house location, 221; resume of British operations in Oregon country from author's point of view, 221-4; source of "nest-of-dangers" reputation of the mouth of the Columbia, 224-6; Commodore Wilkes and his officers "taken in" at Fort Vancouver, 226-9; how the "lawyer, the judge and the general with the helpers, the former legislators," were handled, 229-30; how the insurgency of 1846 was subdued, 230-2; the terms of the treaty and the ownership of the Hudson's Bay Company station and mill at Oregon City, 232-3; the Indians used as pawns, 224-44; trust methods used by Hudson's Bay Company authorities, 242-4; "friends at court" and delegate to Congress become the issue, 245-9.

LUPTON, fur trader, 251-258; his fort, 261.

M

MCCARVER, M. M., with Peter H. Burnett, selected site of Linnton, 215.

MCCLURE, COLONEL JOHN, has pre-emption claim to Point George, 12.

MCLOUGHLIN, DR. JOHN, role of, in Oregon narrated by Lieutenant Neil M. Howison, 21-3.

MCLOUGHLIN, DR. JOHN, cost of improvements made by, at Willamette Falls to January 1, 1851, 68-70.

Methodist missionaries in Oregon, 1846, 45.

Milton laid off at mouth of Willamette, 216.

Multnomah laid off below Linn City by Hugh Burns, 215.

N

Northern Pacific Railroad Company's transfer boat, the Frederick Billings, at Ainsworth on the Snake River and later at Pasco, 346-7.

O

OGDEN, PETER SKEEN, characterized by Lieutenant Neil M. Howison, 31-2.

Oregon, rapid development of, in early forties causes a statistical account two years old to be out of date, 9; winds and weather affecting conditions of navigation, 14-15; portions of occupied in 1846, 21; people of, in 1846, 21-6; political conditions in, 1846, 26-7; wretched plight of incoming pioneers soon relieved, 28-9; Hudson's Bay Company and missionaries, through credit given and assistance afforded, lighten hardships of pioneers, 29-30; company's officials seek political influence through credit extended, 30-1; strong patriotic feeling among the Americans, 32-3; commerce in, 36-40.

Oregon in 1863, 61-4; population, 61-4; political directory of, 1863, 62-3; taxable property in, 64.

Oregon, Eastern, gold discoveries in, cause filling up of, 61.

Oregon City, 1846, 43; first place selected as townsite in Oregon, 215.

Oregon Defenses, 54-5.

Oregon flocks and herds, 1846, 52-3.

Oregon flora, 51.

Oregon meteorology, 50.

Oregon Steam Navigation Company makes effort in 1864 to take steamboat through Snake River canyon to ply between Old's Ferry and Boise, 339-40.

OSBORN, BURR, SURVIVOR OF HOWISON EXPEDITION TO OREGON IN 1846, Reminiscences of experiences growing out of wrecking of United States schooner Shark at mouth of Columbia, 355-64.

P

Pacific City, laid off by Elijah White, 216.

Peacock's launch left by Captain Wilkes in charge of Dr. McLoughlin, sold by Lieutenant Howison, 8-9.

PITTOCK, HENRY L., part of, in the upbuilding of the Oregonian, 204.

Portland, 1846, 42; claims to land on site of, 215; in 1862, 333.

R

ROSE FESTIVAL, WHY NOT A FOLK FESTIVAL in the, 315-17.
ROSS, ALEXANDER, Journal of, on SNAKE RIVER EXPEDITION, 1824, 366-88; activities in Pacific Northwest fur trade, 365; his books, 365-6; course traced in Snake River expedition, 1824, 367-8.

S

St. Helens, founded by Captain H. M. Knighton, 216.
St. John, founded by James Johns, 216. Salem, 1846, 44.
Salmon fisheries in Oregon, 1846, 47-8; superstitious ceremonies and practices of Indians regarding, 47-8.
SCHENCK, LIEUTENANT W. S., is dispatched up the Columbia as high as The Dalles, 8.
SCOTT, ANNE ROELOFSON, pioneer conditions impose "a long agony of self-sacrifice upon, 94-5.
SCOTT, HARVEY W., EDITOR—REVIEW OF HIS HALF-CENTURY CAREER AND ESTIMATE OF HIS WORK, 87-133: the Oregon of his youth and of his maturity and his relation to it, 87-89; external record of his life, 89-91; ancestry of, 91-92; domination of pioneer vision, temper and spirit in life of, 92-5; his self-reliance and individualism, 95-6; his first writing for the Oregonian, 96-7; times and conditions had much to do with his spirit and methods, 97; encourages assistants in all departments of Oregonian, 97-8; his interest centered in editorial page, 98; fundamental motive was social responsibility, 98; an autocrat, but dominated by demands of social conditions and fundamental principles, 99-101; felt that he alone could pledge the Oregonian, 101-2; maintains integrity of the news, adhering strictly to commandment, "Thou shalt not bear false witness," 102-3; occasionally, however, used a "smashing headline," 103-4; loyalty to principles and abstract ideal combined with course shaped by necessities of working relations, 104-6 Oregon afforded vantage ground for interpretation of national tendencies, 107-8; championship of cause of sound money representative, 108-9; summary of his professional character, 109-10; his prodigious reading and wonderful memory, 110-12; theology his deepest interest, 113-14; his style a reflection of his mind, 114-15; delights in the literature of the imagination, 115-16; nature has profound fascination for him, 116-17; solidity the characteristic quality of his thought and expression, 117-18; his consideration as an employer, 118-19; delights in companionship of those of understanding and sympathy, 119-20; friendships with men of native and genuine quality, 120-3; new relationships formed in the East in later years, 124-5; secret of this exemplified in the Archbishop Corrigan dinner, 124-5; has little sympathy with personal incapacity and its consequences, 125-6; his tenderest feeling for childhood, 126-7; the appeal of the United States Senate to him, 127-9; his indifference to appearances, 129-30; the home interest of his life, 130-1; the sentiments that were the spiritual guides of his life, 131; the large issues in which he had a leading part, 135; list of events in lief of, 133.
MR. SCOTT'S LIBRARY AS A GAUGE OF HIS BROAD SCHOLARSHIP AND LITERARY ACTIVITY, 134-9; early and continued interest in history, 134-5; large familiarity with ancient classics, 135; ancient and biblical history deeply studied by him, 136; wide reading of publicists, Burke and Hamilton, 136-7; exponents of liberal thought, of metaphysics and of philosophy appreciated, 137; the fiction that stood the test of time a part of his reading, 138; an astounding memory of poetry, 138-9.
REVIEW OF WRITINGS based on ten thousand articles written by him, 140-204; dominating idea in his editorial productions—individual functions and duty, 141; mode of life of pioneer West inculcated self-reliance, 142; sentimental interest in Oregon history, 143; his reading and social intercourse, 144; the editor of practical affairs, of idealistic sense and of scholarly attainment, 145; belief in war as the nursery of national unity and strength, 145; has many friends among theologians of divergent sects, 146-7; held religious feeling to be a permanent force in nature of men, 147; his opinions on religion epitomized, 148-9; his perennial fight for sound money, 149; the beginning and the culmination of it, 149; though a Westerner, he combats financial and monetary delusions bred under Western conditions, 150-1; resists repudiation, 152-4; points out "fundamental error" in our monetary system to be "fiat money," 154-5; free coinage of silver fought as a later phase of fiat money, 155-6; maintenance of gold standard no more open to debate than multiplication table, 156-7; contrasts Cleveland's firmness with vacillating policy of McKinley, 159; the silver issue counted by him as gravest crisis in our industrial history, 160-1; the course of history set awry by assassination of Lincoln, 162; his Nationalist idea grew with his manhood, 162-3; indiscriminate negro suffrage a mistake, 163-4; Southern fear of negro and Northern prejudice a nightmare dispelled, 164; the national idea the main line of demarcation between the two chief political parties, 165; the tendency of democracy to subdivision, but this more than counterbalanced by forces making for national unity, 166-7; Jefferson the "evil genius of our national and political life" and the "glory of Hamilton the greatness of America," 168-9: his interpretation of national expansion across the Pacific, 169-71; took issue with the Republican party with regard to its protective policy, but affiliated with that party because of his agreement with it on more serious questions, 171-4; deprecates violent expulsion of Chinese, but holds that social need of exclusion outweighs industrial need of Chinese labor on the Pacific Coast, 174-8; expressions evoked from him by agitations, challenges and experiences in the hard times of 1894, 178-82; out of sympathy with progressive socialization of industry, 182-3; minimized efficacy of social legislation, placed all responsibility upon home, 183-6; "industry is the first of the influences of right living," 186-9; goal that socialistic teachings would lead to pointed out, 189-90; extension of governmental functions opposed, 190-1; advocates of single tax doctrine criticised, 192; trust methods scored, 192-3; modification of Oregon system urged that representative system of law-making and of party organization might be preserved, 193-8; participations in some railway rivalries, 198-200; combatted mortgage tax, 200; influences specified that contribute to high cost of living, 200-1; independence the prime requisite for right functioning in journalism, but legitimate money-making must be first object, 201-4.

TRIBUTES TO MR. SCOTT'S ACHIEVEMENTS IN JOURNALISM, 206.

Sioux Indian depredations in Rocky Mountains, 265-8; 271.

SMITH, E. WILLARD, Journal of, while with fur traders, Sublette and Vasquez, 250-79; biographical note on, 250.

SUBLETTE, WILLIAM L., probably one of the leaders of the expedition into the Rocky Mountains, 1839-40, 250-1.

T

THURSTON, SAMUEL R., history of, papers of, 214.

Toulon, voyage of, 1847, 13.

V

Vasquez and Sublette expedition into the Rocky Mountains, 1839-40, course of, 251-3; in council with the Arapahoes, 260.

W

WALKER, I. R., leader of expedition to California, 253; discoverer of Yosemite wonderland, 253; 268.

WILBUR, REV. J. H., experiences of, as Indian agent in 1886, 65-7.

WILKES, LIEUTENANT CHARLES, cause for criticism of, by early Oregonians, 214-16.

Willamette River freezes over at Portland in Winter of 1861-2, 332-3.

WORK, JOHN, JOURNAL OF, ON SNAKE COUNTRY EXPEDITION, 1830-1, 280-314; course of expedition, 280-1; summary of travels and disasters during expedition, 314.

Y

YOUNG, F. G., author of supplementary note to Lownsdale letter, 217; author of introductory note to journal of E. Willard Smith, 250-3; author of "Why Not a Folk Festival in the Rose Festival?" 315-17.